Working experience

2016 – 2017 Lecturer at the Institute of Cultural Anthropology and Development Sociology, Leiden University, the Netherlands.
In my current position I give tutorials and plenary lectures at the BA Cultural Anthropology and the interdisciplinary minor on Sustainability.

2016 Social scientific researcher, Mabuwaya Foundation Inc., the Philippines, and Leiden University, the Netherlands.
As part of a joint project of Leiden University and a Philippine NGO, I conducted 5 months of field research on land rights issues and indigenous knowledge among the Agta.

2015 –2016 Assistant researcher at Oxfam Novib, The Hague.
As a research assistant I systematically gathered and analysed data on the implementation of community land rights. My writing contributed to the above-mentioned international report on community land rights.

Jan – April 2015 Fieldwork for my master's thesis, the Philippines.
As part of my master's degree I conducted 4 months of research on the transmission of indigenous knowledge among the Agta hunter-gatherers of the Philippines. Research included ethnographic and quantitative methods.

Extra-curricular activities

2014 – 2015 Student representative at the Education Committee, Leiden University.
This committee was installed by the institute board to critically evaluate the BA and MA Cultural Anthropology. As a representative of the master students, I advised the board on the content of courses and continuity between courses.

2009 – 2015 Rowing at national and international level for student rowing society Njord, Leiden, the Netherlands.
Throughout my studies I combined my education with a career in rowing. In 2012 and 2013 I was part of the Dutch national team. As a rower I learned to commit to long term, ambitious goals. I still enjoy sports in my spare time; at this moment I am training to improve my half marathon time.
